

Are you a writer?

Can you take a picture?

The Evening Sun is always looking for fresh thoughts and perspectives. We are hiring freelance correspondents to cover local events. Make a real difference by becoming an independent journalist in your community.

Professional experience is appreciated but a wide range of opportunities are available, based on desired workload and skill level. We are happy to engage with students and help new employees grow.

We pay per submission. Assignments are determined in collaboration with the managing editor.
