House Cleaning Time

Submitted by Village of Richfield Springs
Historian Harriett Geywitz

When the soap is on the stairway and the rugs are on the lawn
And the paperhanger is coming while the plasterer has gone.
When men are all disgusted and are bothered with the blues,
While their wives are madly cuffing in enormous overshoes.
O' the house is in a turmoil at the very blush of dawn
When the soap is on the stairway and the rugs are on the lawn.

When the grand piano is damaged by a can of color spilled
In its innermost recesses by a man who should be killed.
When you're eating from the gas range and sleeping in the hall
And you sit down in the kalsomine intended for the wall.
And the batter cakes are tinted with a dash of indigo
And your coffee tastes of benzine and there's borax in the dough.
O' a broom will send you sidewise like a timid startled fawn
When the soap is on the stairway and the rugs are on the lawn.

Oh for somewhere east of somewhere where the best is like the worst
And a human habitation by house cleaning is not cursed.
For there's tumult in the attic and the cellar is a mess
And you have to screen the windows with a bureau when you dress.
When the soap is on the stairway and the rugs are on the lawn. (The Universalist)

This poem appeared in a 1916 issue of the Mercury and briefly described, if exaggerated, some of the situations that occurred during the ritual of spring and fall house cleaning. This wasn't the everyday cleaning - this involved clearing out and scrubbing every nook and cranny in the house. The practice was especially prevalent until the early 1950s. By then, families were smaller and there was no longer the need to 'keep everything as it might be useful one day'. More advanced and easier methods of cleaning were being introduced. It is still a practice, however, that many look forward to (?) twice a year.

In prior years it was also a news item that was apt to appear in the paper, so you wanted to be sure that you were on schedule for your cleaning so you didn't chance being chastised by your neighbors. After all, it was a matter of pride. Notice was given from the various correspondents of area communities that it was 'cleaning time inside and out'!

For the hotels in our summer resort area, this was a necessity, especially before opening. For Example: "Annual house cleaning at the Spring House will commence May 18th" (1891) "House cleaning at Hotel Earlington has been a matter of considerable curiosity to the people. The carpets have been cleaned by the compressed air and vacuum process, a Utica firm doing the job." (1907)

Cleaning the hotels and larger guest houses required an army of help but for the average homeowner, it required stamina and keeping an attitude of good cheer while taking on this daunting task. Each room required the removal of rugs which, if smaller, were thrown over the clothesline and children who were big enough, given orders to make use of the carpet beater to get the dust and dirt out. Other items that would appear hanging over the clothesline, other than the usual laundry, were the featherbeds or ticks. For those who are not familiar with these, they were considered valuable possessions which were even willed to family members in the 19th century. It took at least fifty pounds of feathers, usually goose or duck, to fill a tick which was like a tightly woven cotton bag, sown shut after filling. Chicken feathers were not desirable. All feathers had to be thoroughly dried and aired before using. The tick could also be filled with straw and it was quite common in the 1800s to use a straw mattress under a softer feather one. These, too, had to be 'wacked' to remove the dust and dirt before returning them to the thoroughly cleaned bed frames.

If you were fortunate enough to have lace curtains, they too needed attention. After washing and starching, they were hung to dry on the curtain stretcher, a wooden frame that unfolded into a big rectangle with many, very sharp, pins to which the curtain was attached and stretched until dry. This procedure was more difficult than it sounds as there was a very real danger of many pricks to your fingers.

In the meantime, the windows and all woodwork in each room had to be washed, the floors swept, mopped and polished ready for the newly cleaned rugs. Cupboards and contains cleaned and new paper applied to the shelves. Every speck of dust and dirt was to be removed - it was not only a need to improve sanitary conditions, but something that a housewife grew up with, knowing that it was her responsibility.

The cleaning products offered, aside from muscle power and endurance, were somewhat limited, depending on the era. A standby was white vinegar and baking soda which were common for cleaning everything from floors to windows. A good supply of rag had been gathered for all uses and quite often, homemade lye soap was sure to be plentiful.

As mentioned in the poem, meals were apt to be eaten standing up or of the cold variety so that could be prepared hurriedly and woe to the person who dared to complain or to leave muddy footprints on newly cleaned floors!

It was the perfect time of year for the various stores to advertise product that were meant to help the weary homemaker. For example, in 1916, D. A. Bierma on Lake Street suggested that now was the perfect time before fall house cleaning to buy one of the very best electric vacuum cleaners at a price that would surprise you - or rent one at $1.00 a day.

If you wondered what all should be covered as you looked forward (or not) to the annual chore, there was a Cornell Bulletin called "A House Cleaning Handbook A-Z" which told of the correct procedures.

And all of this does not cover the airing of winter clothes that were put away in the Spring in mothballs and sorting through things to keep, things to give away, things to throw away.

Don't forget the cleaning of the yard and the 'privy' which might need a change of location, a dousing of lime, and perhaps a new Montgomery Ward catalog - just in case.

The list of things to be accomplished twice a year seemed daunting and we can be very grateful that times have changed and we now have equipment and items that help in the process if we choose to carry on the tradition.

Whether it was in the 1800s or now, the end result seems to be a renewal of hope for the coming season - all because of house cleaning.

The 53rd Annual Wheel Days Roll September 27th-29th

Be a wheel watcher or a wheel turner when the 53rd annual edition of Wheel Days rolls on to the Madison County Fairgrounds, September 27th-29th.

The wheels will start spinning Friday evening at 7pm with the Gas & Diesel Truck Pulls. Saturday youngsters can hop on big tractors, honk the horn on a big rig, and pretend to steer a fire truck at the Touch a Truck event from 12pm-3pm. Then the action continues at 5pm with the ever-popular Demolition Derby. The wheel excitement resumes Sunday at 10am with the Tractor Pulls and "Just Cruise-In" car show welcomes the polished wheels on all Classic, Custom, Antique, and Muscle vehicles to the fairgrounds. Enjoy live music with Daniel Frost, Solo Artist - 80s-90s Country/50s-60s Rock at 12pm on the stage while feasting on a chicken barbecue.

Besides all this wheel excitement find treasures at the craft vendors and flea markets. The kids will enjoy bouncing the day away in the bounce houses. Do not miss what may be your last chance of the season to enjoy delicious fair cuisine.

Come join the "WHEEL" FUN on the Madison County Fairgrounds located at 1968 Fairground Rd., Brookfield, NY 13314. For more information visit www.madisoncountyfairny.com

The 48th Annual Fall Antiques In Schoharie

The plans are set, the dealers are signing up and we are excited to be back at the Schoharie Valley Railroad Complex at 143 Depot Lane in the Village of Schoharie, NY. On the weekend of September 28 and 29, Schoharie Colonial Heritage Association (SCHA) will once again be hosting our annual 48th Fall Antique Show.

Antique dealers from Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire and New York will be bringing their treasures. Visitors will find quilts and blankets, jewelry, antique furniture, stoneware, oriental rugs, glass and china, baskets and bowls, and collectibles of every kind. Special heritage crafters have also been invited—the broom maker, the candle maker, the potter, the candy lady and more.

The Schoharie Valley Railroad Complex backdrop is certainly one of the most unique to visitors. The Railroad Museum's 1865 Station House and 1891 passenger car of the Middleburgh & Schoharie Railroad will be open to the public. The freight shed, which houses all kinds of railroad memorabilia, including a restored 1917 Delaware & Hudson Railway caboose, will also be open to show-goers.

The volunteers of SCHA are most anxious to present yet another special show for all. Our buildings and grounds will be filled with quality dealers who show and sell treasures from our past.

The cooks of SCHA have put together another scrumptious selection of picnic items with our famous homemade desserts should you want a great lunch under our picnic tent.

Proceeds from the antique shows fund the ongoing historic activities of the Schoharie Colonial Heritage Association. Mark your calendar: Saturday, 9/28 from 10-5 and Sunday, 9/29 from 11-4. Admission $6. There is plenty of free parking. Call for further information, 518-295-7505. ◀

Know Your Limits

Maybe you like the feel of the open road or maybe you're just in a hurry. But the fact remains, that speed limits are carefully set to give you the safest possible driving speed for each road's particular traffic conditions. And because speeding is dangerous, the penalties are stiff.

So whenever time is of the essence, start out early and obey your local speed signs. Then you can enjoy a safe and leisurely ride without having to worry about the fines.
