PEN SKETCHES OF 1894

Submitted by Village of Richfield Springs Historian Harriett Geywits

We've reviewed the several grocery stores that were in business in the village in 1894. Now let's see what was said about a few of the other businesses that existed at that time as mentioned in the RICHFIELD MERCURY Pen Sketches:

A. J. Smith & Son: The drug and prescription store occupies a prominent position among the leading houses at Richfield springs. The store which is 22 x 80 feet in dimensions, is splendidly lighted by the plate-glass show windows; is handsomely fitted up with artistic fixtures; elegant show cases, etc. and presents that attractive appearance associated with a thoroughly equipped establishment of this character. The store is stocked with pure drugs and chemicals, pharmaceutical preparations, all popular and desirable proprietary remedies, toilet articles, fine confections, window glass, a fine line of smokers' articles, sportsmen supplies, etc. and is replete with everything that constitutes a first-class pharmacy. The prescription department is carefully and efficiently directed with the assistance of Mr. H. F. Freeman, who is also an experienced chemist and pharmacist. In compounding physicians' prescriptions and family receipts, every precaution is taken to secure the most perfect accuracy. Several courteous assistants are employed and prompt and polite attention is given to all patrons. A specialty is made of fitting trusses, of which a comprehensive stock is carried of the most approved kinds. Messrs. A. J. Smith & Son were formerly in business in Jefferson County and in 1809 opened their present establishment. Mr. A. W. Smith is a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association and one of the founders of the New York State Pharmaceutical Association and altogether, this man is one of experience and ability, of commanding influence, wide popularity and solid worth.

W. B. Ward: This house, which is the largest and most extensive of its kind in this vicinity, was established in 1871 and its operations have been conducted with annual increasing success. This house, which forms an important adjunct to the building interests, is recognized by builders and consumers as headquarters for building materials, grain, feed, etc. The office of this well-known concern is located on Lake Street with the yards, which cover an area of about two acres, are conveniently situated near the D. L. & W. railroad, where are built large and commodious store houses, lumber sheds, saw and planing mills, etc. The buildings are fully equipped throughout for the successful prosecution of the business. One team and a force of men are constantly employed. A carefully assorted stock is constantly carried including lumber of every description, rough and dressed, flooring and inside finishing's, posts, shingles, lath, doors, sash and blinds, etc., while a comprehensive stock of flour, feed and grain is also carried. All products of this house are received direct from first hands and in large quantities and furnished both to the trade and consumers at lowest price. Mr. Ward has resided here for the past 23 years and is most well and favorable known in this community. He is closely identified with the growth and development of the area and of which his own enterprise is a prominent and valuable feature.

L. McCredy & Son: This livery and boarding stable is one of the most noted establishments of its kind in the State. The proprietors, Messrs. L. and Wick McCredy, founded this enterprise in 1875. the premises are comprised in six buildings, and have dimensions as follows: 320x22; 120x20; 30x60; 120x16; 150x40 and 60x40, divided into stables and twenty box stalls, blacksmith shop, wagon house, store house, barn, hay building, etc. The structures were erected especially for the purposes to which they are devoted and are complete in arrangements - the electric lighting, ventilation and drainage are perfect. Accommodations are afforded for 150 horses. First-class horses, buggies, carriages, sleighs, landaus, Victoria's, four-in-hand breaks, etc. are kept for hire and elegant turnouts with careful drivers are supplied promptly for funerals, weddings parties, etc. The special feature of boarding horses and stock is given the best of care by experienced grooms. The firm also does a large brisk trade in the buying and selling of horses and dairy cows and also transacts a heavy business in hay-during the last twelve months having shipped nearly five thousand tons. They also conduct a farm of 300 acres which is located in the town of German Flats and which produced, this past year, about 100 tons of hay. The farm is well equipped and stocked with about 50 head of cattle. Among those contributing to the sum of commercial activity in this vicinity, none are more widely and honorably known than Messrs. L. McCredy & Son. They are responsible gentlemen. Their business connections are of a substantial character. They maintain an A1 standing in commercial life and their career has been marked by unbroken prosperity. They are active, energetic and devoted to their business; are highly respected residents, solid citizens and leading businessmen.

F. R. Martin: Mr. Martin is prosecuting active operations as general dealer in furniture. The enterprise dates back to 1867 when it was conducted by Mr. M. D. V. Martin, who later had associated with him, Mr. D. W. Harrington, who was subsequently succeeded by the subject of this sketch after the death of Mr. M. D. V. Martin in April 1883. Mr. F. R. Martin came into possession of the business and under whose management a large permanent patronage has been developed. The premises consist of a three-story structure located on James Street, which is fully equipped for the prosecution of the business. The stock on hand embraces a complete line of chamber suits, fancy chairs, stands, upholstered goods, mattresses, springs, kitchen furniture etc. from the most reliable manufacturers. New goods in all the latest designs are constantly being received and his facilities are such as to give his patrons the benefit of his long experience. The advantages of this house are unsurpassed as also are the the goods in both quality and price. Upholstery work and repairs are given prompt execution and a specialty is also made of picture framing. Mr. Martin is a wide-awake and progressive business man to whose patronage we commend our readers.

M. A. Shaul: Mr. Shaul, the manufacturing furrier, is justly regarded the leading representative in his line throughout this section of the State. He has been established in this business since 1886 and has built up a large, lucrative trade derived not alone from this village, but from all parts of the State. The premises occupied for the transaction of the business are located at the corner of Lake and Canadarago Streets and are admirably equipped for the business and the stock embraces everything seasonable, desirable and commendable in ladies' and gentlemen's furs, ladies' fine sealskin garments and gentlemen's fur coats, fur gloves and caps and ladies' fur cloaks, and capes of his own superior manufacture. A specialty is also made of altering and repairing furs of every description and re-dyeing seal sacques and remodeling them equal to new. His stock of coverage and fur robes is of the largest to be found in this county. Several competent assistants are employed under the personal supervision of Mr. Shaul. Inducements are offered to purchasers which cannot be duplicated, considering the high class work done. The certainty of honorable dealings and the uniform excellence of goods have had the effect of drawing prosperous and substantial line of customers. Personally, Mr. Shaul is an enterprising and highly respected citizen.
