Friends of Rogers and Clear Path for Veterans Establish Volunteer Partnership

SHERBURNE, NY - Friends of Rogers and Clear Path for Veterans are teaming up to provide meaningful volunteer and ecotherapy opportunities for military veterans in Central New York. The two organizations are announcing a formal partnership and regularly scheduled opportunities for veterans to connect, spend time in nature, and contribute to the legacy of Rogers Environmental Education Center.

"Rogers Center is a peaceful place that relies on community support to thrive. We're excited to launch this partnership with Clear Path for Veterans, as there are unique services we can provide for one another," said David Carson, Friends of Rogers Executive Director.

The partnership commences this winter at the Rogers Sugar Shack and the nine-acre sugar bush. Volunteers are invited to gather each Monday at 10 am, to learn how to manage a maple sugaring operation, care for the forest, tap trees, collect sap, and produce syrup. For veterans with disabilities, there are roles in operations at Rogers Sugar Shack.

"The opportunity for Clear Path for Veterans to partner with Rogers Center for their maple season has been a blessing for both organizations. The partnership has grown into a friendship, and getting our local veterans out into the woods and into the eco-therapeutic process of making maple syrup is priceless," said Sean Sejersen, Army veteran and Peer Mentor with Clear Path.

Whether active duty, retired, or a military family member, Clear Path for Veterans is a welcoming community for healing, personal growth, and connection. As the partnership with Rogers Center expands, so will opportunities to teach and engage with the general public.

"All veterans and families are welcome to join us during the maple season. If hiking through the woods isn't your thing, we'll need help with other areas of the maple process that aren't so physically demanding," Sejersen said. "I look forward to getting more local veterans involved with this wonderful partnership."

Veterans interested in volunteering can contact Sean Sejersen at sean@clearpathforvets.com or Mallory Brown, Friends of Rogers Community Engagement Coordinator, at mallory@friendsofrogers.org.

The mission of the Friends of Rogers is to provide outstanding educational opportunities that excite, inspire, and motivate people of all ages to enjoy, understand, appreciate, and protect our natural environment.

I N R E M E M B R A N C E

Ralph St. Denny

Founder of the Pennysaver

November 14, 1924 - October 18, 1999

Back in 1949 Ralph saw a publication called the Owego Pennysaver Press. That paper was one of the very first free distribution papers in the country and for whatever reason Ralph thought that would be a great business for him to jump into. I guess after serving in World War 2 as a sailor on a submarine he had no fear in getting in over his head and with that confidence the Chenango Valley Pennysaver became a reality in October 1949.

I asked Ralph about the early days and all he could say was that they were brutal. 16-hour days, 6 days a week were the norm. He wanted to get out after two years but he owed the bank two thousand dollars and had no way to pay it back. Thank goodness for us he stayed and eventually his hard work paid off. What you are holding in your hands today is a direct result of his dedication to the concept and his belief in the free paper industry.

His belief not only led to a very successful operation here, it led him to become a major figure in the formation of both the New York State and the National Associations of Free Community papers. His knowledge, leadership, and willingness to share, helped the free paper industry grow and prosper through the 50's, 60's, 70's and 80's.

His wisdom and vision for this new industry also provided some of its key inventions. Back in the 50's, the Pennysaver and other shopping type papers were run on mimeograph machines and put together by hand, stapled, and delivered to households in a very small, but defined area. Unfortunately, because it was basically a hand operation, this industry was limited to small circulations and limited page counts. Ralph and his partners in a new company called Norwich Manufacturing invented the technology and the machinery, which allowed publishers to automatically put together many pages at one time. This technology allowed both page counts and circulations to grow. Now heavily populated areas of the country, such as Long Island, could join the "Shopping Paper Industry."

In the late 70's Ralph sold his interest in the Pennysaver but continued to stay with the company and continued to provide a strong leadership and creative presence. Using his talents and vision, Ralph became involved in the designing of building material advertising circulars for local lumberyards. As with all good things, Ralph's reputation for doing good work spread, and we started doing more circulars for the friends and associates of these local dealers. Eventually a new company was formed in 1987 called Circulars Unlimited. From what was once just Ralph and two others, Circulars Unlimited grew to become one of the largest producers of advertising circulars for the lumber, home center, and pet care industry. Circulars Unlimited has customers throughout the US and even as far away as Guam and Puerto Rico. A sample of their work can be seen with the regular appearance of the "Curtis Lumber" circulars that are inserted in the Pennysaver and the Evening Sun.

Ralph will always be a part of our lives and through our hands, his creativity will be enjoyed by thousand of people all across the country.

"Opinion" on Columbus Budget

It has come to my attention that the Columbus town board has approved the higher of 2 bids - $15,000 higher - for ambulance service in town and also give the losing service $23,000 for "various and sundry services" to help ease their pain. So now Columbus taxpayers are coughing up $38,000 for high-paid ambulance service and who knows what (?) yet cannot afford to budget sufficient money to attract experienced and competent highway workers to staff the Columbus Highway Department. Now I'm not an accountant nor do I have, or claim to have, experience in Town finance, But there is an "overpowering stench" to all this nonsense. Is it time for State auditors to come to Columbus?

Vote to re-elect Assemblyman Joe Angelino.

*Joe Angelino is a retired member of the U.S. Marines. The use of his military rank, job titles and photos in uniform does not imply endorsement by the Dept. of the Navy, Marine Corps or Dept. of Defense.

Republican Joe Angelino has dedicated his life to serving and protecting us.

A lifelong Republican, Joe served in the U.S. Marine Corps for 23 years, including active combat in the Middle East on multiple tours. He was twice wounded in combat, before retiring from active duty in 2008.

Among many other accolades, Joe Angelino was presented with the NYS Conspicuous Service Cross, was inducted into the NYS Purple Heart Hall of Honor, and was named 2012 NYS Veteran of the Year.

As our Assemblyman since 2021, Joe Angelino has fought for us against Downstate interests.

Joe voted against Bail Reform and continues to push for its repeal. He believes that public safety policy should protect crime victims, not make life easier for criminals.

As former Norwich Police & Fire Chief, Joe has also fought to ensure law enforcement and first responders get the resources they need.

FALL CAR CARE

Your vehicle has a recall ... now what?

Vehicles are expensive. When motorists drive their vehicles away from a dealership, they hope to travel many miles before they need to come back for maintenance. But manufacturers sometimes issue recalls that can affect drivers of both new and old vehicles.

Recalls are safety precautions taken should a portion of a vehicle or the entire car or truck not operate in the manner it was intended. In many instances, auto manufacturers will directly contact customers who are affected by a recall via a letter, email or both. Individuals also can stay current on recalls by visiting the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's website (www.NHTSA.gov).

According to AutoTrader, recalls are becoming more common because of the complexity of modern vehicles. NHTSA flagged nearly 22 million vehicles for safety issues in 2013, and that number is on the rise. Drivers can follow these important steps if they learn of a recall.

- Don't panic, but don't ignore recalls. The experts at Kelley Blue Book say recalls often occur due to a problem in the manufacturing process in similar models, and this issue may surface in other vehicles. Recalls do not guarantee vehicles will malfunction or break down. However, consumers are urged to take recalls seriously, adopting a "better safe than sorry" approach when recalls are announced.
- Follow the instructions. A recall notice should come with instructions. Instructions often advise drivers to take their vehicles to the dealership where the cars were purchased. Notices may provide information regarding nearby dealerships for drivers who have moved since buying their cars or trucks.

- No payment should be necessary. The cost of repairing the recalled part should not fall on your shoulders. Such repairs are paid by the manufacturer. The financial resource Bankrate.com notes that, "if you had the repair made before the recall was issued (up to a full year), the automaker is legally obligated to reimburse you, as long as you had the work done at one of its franchised dealers." Save all receipts for the work. If work was done by a private mechanic, drivers still may be eligible for reimbursement.
- Be patient. Dealerships are not responsible for making repairs until the date indicated on the recall notice, so motorists may need to wait before having their vehicles repaired.
- Request a loaner vehicle. In some instances, recalls may take a few days to fix. Although not every dealership may make loaner vehicles available, it's still worth requesting one so you are not inconvenienced.

Anyone having difficulty with a recall can contact the NHTSA online, by phone or by mail. Those who suspect a safety problem also can contact the agency and report their concerns. SC183764

Why clean air filters are important

Vehicle owners likely know to check fluid levels and get their cars' oil changed, but air filters may not be at the top of their maintenance checklists. Despite being a relatively inexpensive part, air filters often go overlooked. Air filters have an important job in a vehicle, prolonging the life span of engines and helping cars run more smoothly and efficiently.

Purpose of vehicle air filters

Vehicle combustion engines operate with a mixture of fuel and air. Without oxygen, gasoline or diesel fuels cannot burn properly and power the engine. The air filter's job is to prevent dirt, dust and other debris from being sucked into an engine. Otherwise, grime can build up and impede engine performance or cause erosion of parts under the hood.

It is much more cost-effective to routinely change air filters than replace expensive engine parts. Rather than ignoring air filters until the last minute, drivers can take steps to keep filters clean and functioning at peak performance.

- Improve fuel efficiency. Clogged air filters reduce air flow to engines, resulting in an improper ratio of air to fuel. As a result, spark plugs can be negatively affected and the engine may idle roughly or misfire. These scenarios can greatly affect fuel efficiency as well as cause engine deposits from rich fuel. To save money and trips to the fuel pump, replace filters regularly. According to GearHeads, for older cars, studies have indicated that by replacing a dirty air filter, one can improve gas mileage by as much as 14 percent.

- Reduce stress on the engine. Because of the air-to-fuel mix in engines, even a mixture that is slightly off balance can affect what is going on under the hood. That means the engine must work harder to get enough clean air into the chamber to complete the combustion cycle, says the Automotive Training Center.

- Enjoy more power. A filter that is saturated with dirt will restrict air flow. In such instances, drivers may notice a lack of power during acceleration. Replacing the filter can easily restore that pep.

- Reduce vehicle emissions. Environmental concerns are a priority for many people. By keeping the engine working properly, with the advantage of clean, unobstructed air entering the chamber, a vehicle may produce lower emissions.

Replacing air filters is an easy fix that many drivers can do themselves, or ask their mechanics to do during oil changes or other repair shop visits. FC17A351

LOOKING FOR AN AFFORDABLE USED CAR?

SICK OF BUYING rusty junk off of an individual or online and then spending more than you paid for it trying to get it functional or to pass inspection? At Central Auto Sales I take pride in buying quality cars that are still in excellent condition that can supply you with many miles of service in the future. I typically buy my cars from states south of NY to avoid the rust associated with local cars.
