Houseplant Tip

It's important to watch houseplants closely. According to gardenguides.com, an online gardening resource, you should inspect plants regularly for yellowing or discolored leaves. This condition is usually caused by overwatering, but can also be the result of insects. Deformed plants and sticky deposits on leaves and stems can be caused by insects as well.

Laughter Is Good For The Soul
- Today at the bank an old lady asked me to help check her balance. So, I pushed her over.
- A man walks into a pet store and asks for a dozen bees, the clerk carefully counts 13 bees out onto the counter. "That's one too many!" says the customer, The clerk replies, "It's a freebie."
- Did you hear about the stonemason's son? They say he's a chip off the old block.

Health Tip: Research suggests that eating leafy greens (like spinach, kale, collards, and lettuce) may help improve brain health and slow cognitive decline from aging. The study followed a group of 960 older adults who took a series of tests over five years that assessed their cognition. Study participants also filled out questionnaires indicating how often they ate certain kinds of food. Those who ate the most leafy greens were generally found to have a lower rate of cognitive decline. The researchers believe that specific nutrients in leafy greens might have neuro-protective effects and suggest that adding a serving of green leafy vegetables to one's diet might contribute to brain health.

Health Tip: During the summer months, older adults are at a significantly increased risk for hyperthermia, the name for heat-related illnesses. Hyperthermia can include heat stroke, heat edema (swelling in your ankles and feet when you get hot), heat syncope (sudden dizziness after exercising in the heat), heat cramps, and heat exhaustion. The National Institute on Aging makes these suggestions for avoiding hyperthermia:

- Stay indoors on particularly hot or humid days.
- Drink plenty of liquids and wear light-colored, loose-fitting clothes in natural fabrics.
- If you do not have a fan or air conditioner, go somewhere else that is cool. A local senior center may provide a cooling center, or you can go to a public air-conditioned place like a mall, movie theater, or library.
- Look for symptoms of heat stroke, which include fainting, a change in behavior, dry, flushed skin with a strong and rapid pulse, and lack of sweating. If you believe someone is suffering from heat stroke, call 911.

Thought for the Week – "Don't worry about failure; you only have to be right once."
