Submitted by Village of Richfield Springs Historian Harriett Geywits

This two-part neighborhood history was presented in 1913 by Nettie Tuller Ward who was a member of the Ganowanges Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Part one, previously printed in the Turnpike Pennysaver, gave information on when Richfield and surrounding areas were formed. This part deals with the time of the Revolution and some of the happenings in nearby settlements.

"Prior to 1775, French traders and trappers frequented all parts of New York State where game was abundant, including a little settlement located on the site of the Lake House on both sides of the brook which crosses the highway and winds its way to the lake. One of these Frenchmen and his Indian mate remained as late as 1805.

The region all around Canadarago Lake was the home of the Oneidas before its settlement by the whites. Two Mohegan Indians, Captain John and his son, Panther, came from the Connecticut Valley near the close of the 18th century and built a wigwam on the high ground near the lake. Here they lived several years. The father, Capt. John, found death in the placid waters of the Canadarago and was buried on the knoll opposite to the Lake House. The son soon brought a mate from Connecticut and built a log cabin in the little forest familiarly known as the First Lake woods. Here Panther and Polly lived many years. About 1868, they made one of their periodical visits to their native scenes and were never seen here again. At different points around the lake are places that denote permanent Indian camps and from these, many flint arrow heads have been dug.

The old Indian trail from the Mohawk to the Unadilla country led up through Columbia and passed to the south a short distance west of this village on what is now the roadway from Gano's to the old covered bridge. (Rt. 28) Some writers discredit the idea that General Herkimer and his detachment of troops used this trail in June 1777 on their way to Unadilla to meet Brant, but there is no doubt that some portion of the detachment went that way, although the main body may have passed through to Otsego Lake by way of Cherry Valley. Over this trail passed the patriotic scouts, Herkimer, Smith, Helmer and Schuyler from the Mohawk forts to and from the Indian country.

East of us, about three miles, is Little Lakes (Warren) were, before the Revolution, Young and ten others, among them one named Colyer, obtained a grant of land. Young and Colyer were Tories and gave aid to Brant on his way to attack Andrustown. After the massacre, a party of Americans at Fort Herkimer, learning of the terrible affair, set out in pursuit of the Indians and came as far as Little Lakes. Young and Colyer had fled fearing the vengeance of the Americans. Their buildings were plundered and burned. A few years ago, Sanford Tunnicliff, who lives upon this historic spot, plowed up a number of articles buried by the Tories before their flight.

In 1777, George Knouts, a pioneer settler of Little Lakes, was taken prisoner and in 1778, his wife was left for dead. She was found, cared for, recovered and lived to be 115 years old.

About fifty years before the Revolution, there was a settlement at the site of Andrustown. It was first called Henderson as it was on Dr. Henderson's grant of 26,000 acres. The people on the side of colonial liberty were marked for destruction by the Royalists. They were obliged to take refuge in Fort Herkimer in 1777, but in 1778 managed to put in a few crops on their deserted farms. In July, Bell, his son and grandson, Stauring and son and others went out to cut hay accompanied by their wives for the latter's safety. A party of Indians and Tories led by Brant appeared. Both Bells and the Stauring boy were made prisoners. All the buildings were burned and four men were killed. Brant ordered the women spared.

East of us about seven miles, where the old Continental Road crosses the Third Great Western Turnpike, stands a beautiful marker erected by the General James Clinton chapter

DAR of Springfield. This Continental Road was opened by Gen. Clinton and his troops from Canajoharie through the town of Springfield to the head of Otsego Lake. There they launched their fleet of bateaus and floated down the placid waters nine miles to the outlet, now the location of Cooperstown.

At this time there was not a house in the now prosperous village. Here they remained several weeks constructing a dam to float the boats filled with troops down the Susquehanna to meet Sullivan at Tioga Point and join in the expedition against the Six Nations.

The Cherry Valley massacre of November 10, 1778, is a familiar bit of history to us all. The atrocities committed under Brant and Butler would fill a volume. Thirty-two citizens and sixteen soldiers were killed and between thirty and forty taken captive and carried on the Susquehanna to the Genesee country where a division of prisoners took place. Some of these captives escaped and came back as the years passed and their descendants are now living in the little village so full of the terrible memories.

East of Otsego Lake is a spot called 'Niska Rock' and there the Indians camped with their captives on their retreat from Cherry Valley. In 1780, three Shaul brothers were made prisoners and taken to Canada from their home near Van Hornesville. Two of them were exchanged in due time and came home but the third remained in Canada several years. The women and children of this family are said to have been captured and then allowed to return to the settlement unharmed.

In June of the same year, three families lived about a mile north of Springfield Center on the road to the Kuyle (Chyle) settlement. The male members of the families had gone to Cherry Valley on business. The women and children, becoming alarmed, started for Fort Plain, fifteen miles away. It was nearly dark and they hid themselves for the night under a fallen treetop in the swamp. They had not gone far in the morning when they saw Brant standing upon a stump watching them. He motioned them back to concealment and by the same means directed the way to safety. In the late hours of that day, they reached the fort.

In presenting this bit of neighborhood history, I have touched only lightly on subjects. I trust that it will prove of interest to others who will continue on in researching our area history."

THE RIGHT TO BE INFORMED

The Taxpayer Bill of Rights is a cornerstone document that highlights the 10 fundamental rights taxpayers have when dealing with the Internal Revenue Service. The IRS wants every taxpayer to be aware of these rights in the event they need to work with the IRS on a personal tax matter. The IRS continues to publicly highlight these rights to taxpayers. The IRS also regularly reminds its employees about these rights. The IRS expects employees to understand and apply taxpayer rights throughout every encounter with taxpayers. IRS Publication 1, Your Rights as a Taxpayer, includes a full list of taxpayers' rights. It includes The Right to Be Informed.

Taxpayers have the right to know what they need to do to comply with the tax laws. They are entitled to clear explanations of the laws and IRS procedures in all tax forms, instructions, publications, notices and correspondence. They have the right to be informed of IRS decisions about their tax accounts and to receive clear explanations of the outcomes. What you can expect:

- Certain notices must include the amount (if any) of the tax, interest, and certain penalties you owe. It must explain why you owe these amounts.
- When the IRS fully or partially disallows your claim for a refund, it must explain the specific reasons why.
- Help with Understanding Your IRS Notice or Letter is available online at IRS.gov.
- If the IRS proposes to assess tax against you, it must explain the process – from examination (audit) through collection – in its first letter. This letter should explain your options for a review by an independent Office of Appeals and how the Taxpayer Advocate Service may be able to help you.
- If you enter a payment plan, known as an installment agreement, the IRS must send you an annual statement. This gives you a record of balances and payments.
- You can access current and prior year IRS forms and publications at IRS.gov. You can also request order them by calling 800-829-3676.

• IRS also uses several social media tools that provide helpful tax information to a broad audience. You can find IRS on Twitter, YouTube, LinkedIn and the IRS2Go free mobile app. To find out more about the TBOR and what it means to you visit the Taxpayer Advocate Service's website.

By making this important publication available in multiple languages, the IRS hopes to increase the number of Americans who know and understand their rights under the tax law. The IRS has more tax information in other languages too. See the "Languages" menu at the top of any IRS.gov page. The IRS also is committed to protecting taxpayers' civil rights. The IRS will not tolerate discrimination based on age, color, disability, race, reprisal, national origin, English proficiency, religion, sex, sexual orientation or status as a parent. This includes any contact with IRS employees and the staff or volunteers at community sites.

If a taxpayer faces discrimination, they can send a written complaint PDF to the IRS Civil Rights Division.

YOU CAN FIGHT CANCER BEFORE YOU GET IT.

OR AFTER YOU GET IT.

It's a lot easier to fight cancer before you get it. Scientists estimate that up to 60% of all cancer could be prevented.

By simply making a few changes in your lifestyle. By not getting too much sun. By not smoking cigarettes. By not overeating. And by following a diet high in fiber and low in fat.

By doing these few things, you could drastically reduce your risk of getting cancer.

Sure, you could still get cancer.

But why not give yourself the odds against it?

BUYING A CAR?

*We urge you to buy from a dealer
you know!*

During the year auto dealers from outside our communities set up what we call "Off Site Tent Sales". You know, the kind with the big tent, in a parking lot of a local shopping center, promising big prizes, and used cars offered at unbelievable prices.

Before you make a purchase at one of these events our family of publications urge you to consider the following.

LET THE BUYER BEWARE!

- 1. Prizes: A big prize is always offered but have you ever seen or heard of a winner?
- 2. Pricing: Is the price of the vehicles shown right on the car? Or is the price determined after they do a credit check? Guidelines established by the NYS Attorney General states that all vehicle sale prices and mileage must be clearly stated on the vehicle you are considering.
- 3. Bring it where? "Free Oil Changes for Life" is a great promotion, one that's offered by several of our local dealers. But does the "Free Oil Change for Life" offer make any sense when you have to travel 4 hours to get the work done?
- 4. High Pressure Sales: The sales people you will encounter at these "Off Site Tent Sales" are extremely skilled and many travel all over the country doing just these types of events. This is a very high pressure sales environment where an unsuspecting customer will find it extremely difficult to just walk away. Remember this sales person may sell more cars in one day than you will buy in a lifetime.
- 5. Cooling Off Period: Did you know that there is a 72 hour cooling off period? For any "Off Site Sale" guidelines established by the NYS Attorney General call for a 72 hour cooling off period where a consumer may void their purchase agreement. In short, after a closer inspection of the vehicle and the terms of purchase, you have up to three days to bring the vehicle back for a complete refund. Of course, that may not be easy when you don't know how to find the people who sold you the car and if you do find them be prepared for the tremendous pressure put on you to keep the car or take another.
- 6. Warranty: Many of the vehicles sold may require some sort of serious warranty work to be performed. Local dealers do an excellent job of providing quality service work to their customers. But if you are not one of their customers there should be no expectation that a local dealership will perform this work. You may have to drive your car, or have it towed, to the dealership that sold you the car.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY IT HERE!

- 1. Shop Locally: We have always urged our readers to shop locally and we understand that the definition of local may mean different things to different people. We live in valleys of interconnected communities each needed in it's own way to provide our families with the jobs, the goods, and the services essential to our quality of life
- 2. Paying Taxes: When a "Tent Sale" operation comes into town they pay a lot fee to the Shopping Center. They do not pay any real estate taxes within the local community and it is these taxes that pay for our schools, roads, fire departments, and community safety nets.
- 3. Profits: Profits made at these "Off Site Sales" go outside our communities and do not help our local business economy.
- 4. Payrolls: Any vehicles sold outside of our communities may mean job losses at local dealerships. The payrolls generated from local businesses are extremely important to the health of this area. Payrolls are spent on local goods, services, property taxes, and on community events.
- 5. Donations: When people from volunteer fire departments, prom events, and benefits for community members in need come calling for donations, your local dealerships have always been there.

Along with our local automotive dealerships we are very proud to be a part of your community and urge all of our readers to "Buy it Here". It's good for all of us.

LOOKING FOR AN AFFORDABLE USED CAR?

SICK OF BUYING rusty junk off of an individual or online and then spending more than you paid for it trying to get it functional or to pass inspection? At Central Auto Sales I take pride in buying quality cars that are still in excellent condition that can supply you with many miles of service in the future. I typically buy my cars from states south of NY to avoid the rust associated with local cars. I have a nice selection of cars in the affordable $4-6K range, most are low miles or low miles for the age. I'm a lifetime resident of Norwich. Buy from someone local. No pressure, no fancy hype, just quality cars at fair prices! Central Auto Sales LLC, 429 Manley Road, Norwich, www.centralautosalesllc.com 607-336-6371.
